'Design Junkies'

Never fear - it is back!

Famous NZ artist, Shane Hansen has chosen Ngunguru School as the next location...

And we challenge you:

Get a team of 'up to four' together (preferably family members - young and old!) and see what kind of sculpture you can create! Your only limit - your imagination :) Work together on your piece over the next 10 weeks and see what you can create. All artwork will be displayed for viewing and judging at the school during Week 9 of Term 3 (week commencing 17th Sept). Shane and his guest judges will choose the finalists and these will be placed in Ngunguru Schools Art Exhibition Week 10. At this stage, if you wanted to donate your artwork to the school, it would then be auctioned off on the final night, otherwise you can put it up in your own home!

Why?

This is a Visual arts focus year at Ngunguru School and we recognise that we have a wealth of student and whanau talent in our school. So, we would like to promote the coming together of young and old minds in a collaboration of youth and wisdom where children & parents/grandparents/adults work collaboratively through a 'design-build' process to create a stunning, upcycled art piece.

Theme:

Tangaroa

Materials:

You must predominantly upcycle the materials

Rules:

- At least one Ngunguru School student must be involved in the process from start to finish.
- You must design a concept plan of the proposed artwork and hand this in by 1st September.
- The child will be interviewed during Week 9 (17th September) to discuss the process of the work - photos and video evidence would be great!

Judges are looking for:

- Your learning as a junior artist & the collaborative nature of the piece
- The overall design aesthetic
- Technical difficulty
- Connection to theme
